Kundenrezensionen Hilfreichste Kundenrezensionen 0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. WOW!!! Von Ein Kunde David Henderson has a better understanding of today's culture than most college philosophy professors. He provides awesome insight of how to reach out to people who believe God is absent from their lives, and draw them into Christianity. The book also forces the reader to evaluate the sincerity of his own faith. 0 von 0 Kunden

I felt the same as the first time I read 1984, and Brave New World. I like his style. There are many quotations and interesting facts. It was a learning experience that I will ponder for a long while.

Kurzbeschreibung A map of today's cultural landscape, guiding Christians toward more effective communication with the postmodern world. Kurzbeschreibung A map of today's cultural landscape, guiding Christians toward more effective communication with the postmodern world. Der Verlag ber das Buch Book Description As postmodern thinking continues to pervade our culture, it is increasingly urgent that Christians communicate the gospel in ways that are understandable to the postmodern mind-set. "We've done our work," writes David Henderson, "carefully unfolding God's spoken Word. Now we pack up our insights into well-chosen phrases and send them out across this nation's pulpits and restaurant tables and neighborhood fences. But dramatic shifts in American culture have nudged the world out of reach of the words we've so carefully selected." "Culture Shift" is an invaluable resource for Christian leaders in churches and in parachurch organizations, seminary and Bible college students, and thinking Christians who desire to interact with seekers and nonbelievers. Readers will gain a lucid view of: - how the culture breeds consumers, spectators, and self-absorbed individuals - how people think in a relativistic world with no room for God - how to break out of the Christian subculture to communicate with the postmodern world "The world has moved," Henderson writes. This book will help readers discover where it has moved and how to meet it there. Dr. David W. Henderson is a senior pastor in West Lafayette, Indiana, and a regular contributor to "Discipleship Journal". He has served widely as a conference and chapel speaker in the United States and overseas.
