KundenrezensionenHilfreichste Kundenrezensionen0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. adorable, informative bookVon Ein KundeI adored this series of books and highly recommend them to others. He provides interesting observations of child-rearing based on the astrological signs of both parent and child. I keep buying them as baby shower gifts!

Kurzbeschreibung John Astrop is an astrologer and a writer and illustrator of children's books published throughout the world. John's love of the child's natural creativity and his interest in the learning period of childhood combine in his unique approach to astrology. He believes that by keeping a little of the child in all of us we can make our life richer and more fulfilling. Throughout life, in order to come up to other people's expectations we shift tracks and take unwanted roads far away from our real selves and the honest, happy and creatively uninhibited little person we once were. These books give an insight into maintaining the best bits of our individuality in all our family relationships.
