KurzbeschreibungThe autobiography of Rev. Thomas S. Goslin, II, Ph.D.--one of this centuries dedicated visionaries who has served the church in the U.S., in Argentina, Peru and Spain. Beyond this he has been much involved in setting up seminaries in Argentina and Spain for the training of indigenous church leaders and has consistently and thoughtfully contributed to the religious academic community in spoken and written word. Thomas Goslin's autobiography, Out to Pastor, is a refreshing story of what the ministerial calling can be. President Calian of Pittsburgh Seminary, in the introduction, gives something of the sweep when he writes, "Dr. Goslin has successfully filled the role of husband, father, grandparent, pastor, seminary educator, author, missionary, international ecumenist and best of all--he has been throughout, a faithful, and enthusiastic disciple of Jesus Christ." I take the liberty of referring to the author as "Tom." This is because he was in the class of '44 and I in the class of '43, and we were both members of the Benham Club at Princeton Seminary. I learned much from the book about Tom's life not only after our seminary days, but before as well. Tom came to seminary after graduating from Yale where he had received the call to ministry. While at Yale, he studied Spanish, spent the summer of his junior year in Peru, and wrote a paper, "Latin American Reaction to U.S. Imperialism, 1898-1914" that displeased the professor who read it. --Jack Cooper -- Princeton Seminary Bulletin, Vol.XXI, No. 1, New Series, 2000, pp. 121

121AutorenkommentarThis book is the story of my life, as pastor and missionary OUT TO PASTOR began as an effort to pass along the story of my life to my children and grandchildren. Other friends and relatives who heard about it encouraged me to make it available to the general public, and my friend Faith Sand of Hope Publishing House, Pasadena, agreed that this would be a good idea. The book simply tells the story of my life from my childhood in Wildwood, NJ, a seashore resort, thru high school, college, seminary, graduate school, overseas missionary assignments in Argentina and Spain, and then retirement. Those interested in knowing more about the Community Church of Madrid can read THE CHURCH WITHOUT WALLS, also published by Hope Publishing House. Those who want to know more about the church in Argentina may want to get B. FOSTER STOCKWELL, LA HISTORIA DE UNA MISION, published by LA AURORA in Buenos Aires.
