read - but!!! Von Dell Walker Reads like a novel. Full of adventure, suspense, tragedy and lost love. However, seeing as this is supposed to be a true story, I would have liked to have seen a bit more corroboration. It should be possible to obtain police documents or newspaper cuttings from the period concerned, but it seems the ghost writer was content to take Marina Chapman's word for it without doing any further digging. Perhaps this is why she was chosen for the job.

Von femke Sonnen Ich habe dieses Buch für eine Freundin gekauft weil ich so beeindruckt war von dieser Geschichte. Ich glaube auch direkt dass es keine Fiktion ist. Das kann nicht sein weil so etwas kann man einfach nicht erfinden. Es ist auch sehr gut geschrieben (Ich las es in Niederländisch).

Kurzbeschreibung It all happened so quickly. One minute I was squatting on the bare earth, preoccupied with popping pea pods. The next, I saw the flash of a black hand and white cloth, and before I even had a chance to cry out it had sailed towards my face, and completely covered it . . .

In 1954, in a remote South American village, a four-year-old girl was abducted and then abandoned deep in the Colombian rainforest. So begins the incredible true story of Marina Chapman, who went on to spend several years alone in the jungle, her only family a troop of capuchin monkeys. Using instinct to guide her, she copied everything they did and soon learned to fend for herself. At around ten years old, a completely feral Marina was returned to civilisation by hunters, who sold her to a brothel. After being enslaved and beaten daily, she escaped to live the perilous existence of a Colombian city street kid. Marina's life as a wild child was not over. In some ways, it had only just begun. This is her astonishing story.

Pressestimmen "Marina Chapman's astonishing story . . . has intrigued the nation" (Daily Mail) "An inspiring life story . . . The dramatic narrative reads like a real-life version of Tarzan" (Sunday Telegraph) "The amazing story of a Bradford housewife that has more to do with Edgar Rice Burroughs' Tarzan than David Hockney's home city in West Yorkshire" (Sunday Times) "A nicely written, gripping read with some wonderful moments ... a story of love and hope." (Jim Greenhalf Bradford Telegraph Argus)

Werbetext The astonishing life story of a woman who, as a young girl, lived alone for five years with a family of monkeys in the wild jungles of Colombia
